REACH ACCORD ON WAR DEBT PROBLEM

Heavy Speculation in Stocks Condemned in Senate

RESERVE BODY EASING MONEY PURSE STRING

REDISCOUNT RATE TO REMAIN AT 5 PER CENT

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

(Copyright 1929, by the Escanaba Press)

Washington, June 4—The federal reserve board considers that the epoch which began with its warning last February has come to a turning point and that from now on the economic situation of the country will adjust itself to a new set of circumstances.

As illustrative of the board's view that the results of the last few weeks have fully justified the caution and prudence suggested in February, the purchase of bills or bankers' acceptances in gradually increasing quantities will become evident, thus tending to make money conditions easier.

This does not mean that a return to speculative excesses will be permitted but that the tension can be relaxed and member banks will find through the expansion of credit by bill buying the corrective they have been thinking would come through a rise in the rediscount rate.

Rediscount Rate

The mantenance of the rediscount rate at five per cent for the indefinite future is assured, with the possibility that as conditions grow easier hence it may be reduced. In other words, the federal reserve is able by purchase or sale of bankers' acceptances to exercise a control of credit and if banks do not separate the wheat from the chaff in handling loans related to speculation, the contracting process can be invoked again. What is happening now is a testing of the new conditions in the hope of determining how soundly the credit world can adjust itself to the relaxation of the tension which has been imposed for several months.

It is interesting to note that the recommendation of the advisory council of the federal reserve system that the rediscount rate be advanced to six per cent has been tabled because it did not fit, in the opinion of the board, the new conditions. The coming depression in the agricultural area due to the drop in grain prices, together with the expected dimunition of returns from those industries dependent on agriculture, has been a corrective influence which has made unnecessary the application of the rediscount increase, something which the board considers should be only a last resort measure anyhow.

Board Hides Machinery

The story of the discussions and arguments that have been going on for several months as to the wisdome of the federal reserve's policy includes much misunderstanding, due to the fact that the board has not participated in the public debate. It is known, however, that while the banking elements were not at first disposed to cooperate with the board in its warning against speculative excesses, they soon discovered an attack from behind, namely, the withdrawl of deposits in order to engage in that specu-

FACES ANOTHER MURDER CHARGE

Once sentenced to death for the murder of William Lindstrom, cabinet maker, and later freed, Mrs. Catherine Cassler, above, of Chicago, now has been accused of a second murder, following the finding of the body of pretty Cameo Soutar, who was housekeeper for Mrs. Cassler's husband during her imprisonment. Warrants have been issued for her arrest.

CHARGE WOMAN WITH MURDER

Slain Girl Lived With Her Husband While She Was in Jail

Valparaiso, Ind., June 4 (AP)—A charge of first degree murder was placed tonight against Mrs. Catherine Cassler for the death of Cameola Soutar, her young rival for her husband's affections.

The murder charge was filed immediately after completion of the inquest into the young woman's death. Coroner E. H. Miller recommending Mrs. Cassler be held. She was taken before Justice of the Peace G. E. Bornholt for arraignment.

Standing calm but defiant, the woman who won freedom from a death sentence of another murder charge only a month ago refused to enter a plea, and at the request of her attorneys the preliminary hearing was continued until Friday.

The woman's husband, Truman Cassler, their adopted son, Edward, and Chester Johnson, sweetheart of the slain girl, were ordered held under bonds of $3,000 each as material witnesses. They were remanded to jail until bonds were posted.

Denies Charge

Apathetic as she has been during her stay in jail here and at her trial for killing William Lindstrom, for which she was sentenced to death and later freed, the large woman of 40 years insisted she did not kill the girl, who lived with Mrs. Cassler's husband while his wife was in jail in Chicago.

Most of her testimony was in direct contradiction to that given by others at the inquest, which began yesterday. She never had owned a gun, even when she lived in Crown Point, Ind., several years ago, she said, and never had touched one in her life. The woman admitted, with some indifference, that her feelings had been injured somewhat by her husband's attention to Miss Soutar and neglect of her.

House of David Factions Elated Over Court Edict

Benton Harbor, June 4 (AP)—The two factions into which the House of David has been split since the death of "King" Benjamin Purnell were were unanimous today in expressing their elation over the order of the Michigan supreme court overturning Justice Fead's receivership order.

Judge H. T. Dewhirst, secretary of the cult and leader of the group which has been struggling with another headed by "Queen" Mary Purnell, widow of "King" Penjamin, for control of the colony's wealth since the death of the latter, said the supreme court ruling was a victory for the entire colony. Dewhirst opposes Mary's claim to half the colony holdings with an argument that the property is owned by all and should be administered by the cult council. Cancellation of the Fead order exiling Mary has no bearing on internal affairs, he said.

"The decision reaffirms a fundamental principle of religious freedom," declared Dewhirst.

HIGH OFFICERS, RESERVE BOARD ARE ATTACKED

LEGITIMATE BUSINESS SUFFERS FROM HIGH RATES

Washington, June 4 (AP)—A general outburst against "the orgy of speculation" in the stock markets occurred today in the senate with the many critics prescribing almost as many different remedies for the situation.

The federal reserve board was singled out especially for attacks but President Hoover, Calvin Coolidge and various government officials also came in for condemnation.

Investigations, a tax on stock market specualtions, raising of the rediscount rate and amendment of the federal reserve act were advanced as means of checking the flow of billions of dollars through the market.

Couzens, Glass Outspoken

Senator Couzens, Republican, Michigan, and Glass, Democrat, Virginia, were the most outspoken. They insisted the stock market dealings had attracted an excessive amount of capital at the expense of legitimate business.

Senator Glass announced he would propose as an amendment to the pending tariff bill a 5 per cent tax on stock transactions which were for less than 60 days. He announced he would favor repeal of the provision in the federal reserve act allowing loans on United States bonds for 15 days.

Senator Couzens contended a raising of the rediscount rate by the federal reserve board would have served to check the flow of money into the stock market. Senator Glass, however, opposed this move as a penalty to business and he congratulated the federal reserve board for resisting the "pounding" of the New York Federal Reserve Bank for a raise in the rediscount rate.

Ask Low Income Surtax

Senator Couzens declared it was time for the government officias who asked a lowering of the surtax rates on incomes, so that money woud be liberated for industry, to come forward now and urge that money be taken out of the "gambling pool" for legitimate business. His reference was taken generally to apply to Secretary Mellon, who advocated a reduction in the surtax rates four years ago.

Senator Glass replied that "the time for the government officials erally jumped into the stock pit" recently to declare that "there was nothing to be apprehended from this riot of six billions of dollars of credit in stock gambling."

The debate preceded passage of an administration bill authorizing a new form of short-term securities by the government to be sold at a discount rather than on an interest-bearing basis.

Senator Couzens forced an amendment in the bill already passed by the house, to eliminate a provision authorizing an exemption from taxation of the capital gains tax of holders of the securities. The measure now will be returned to the house for consideration of the Couzens modification.

Senator LaFollette, Republican, Wisconsin, declared the influence of "Wall Street" was so great in the senate that it was responsible for blocking action on h's resolution of a year ago asking the federal reserve board to admonish member banks against increasing the loans to brokers. The board did that nine months later, although the senate never acted.

St. Mary's Acadamy Will Be Rebuilt

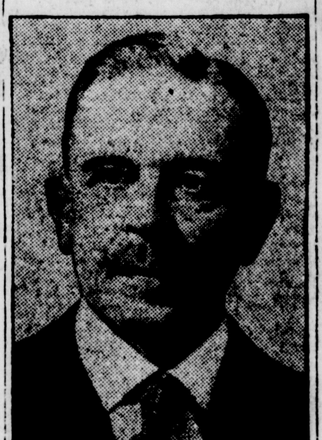
Monroe, Mich., June 4 (AP)—The main building of St. Mary's Academy, destroyed by fire with an estimated loss of $1,000,000 yesterday, will be rebuilt, Sister Domitilla, Mother General of the Order of the Immaculate Heart, said today.

Just when reconstruction will be started has not been determined. Plans will be left to the executive council of the orderfl.

The catastrophe yesterday will not prevent the annual pilgrimage of 800 sisters of the order who come here each summer from various parts of the country, Sister Domitilla said.

All pupils deprived of school accommodations by the fire have been sent to their homes or otherwise provided for.

RESIGNS POST



Dr. Hubert Work, chairman of the Republican national committee, has announced his intention of resigning his post, effective next fall.

G. O. P. CHIEF RESIGNS POST

Dr. Hubert Work, National Committee Chairman, to Retire

Washington, June 4 (AP) — The chairmanship of the Republican National Committee will be relinquished early in the fall by Dr. Hubert Work.

President Hoover received from him today a copy of a letter of resignation sent to members of the committee. The letter revealed that his resignation had been prepared for the meeting of the committee held here March 5, and that he had been "dissuaded from presenting it that time."

"I did not then, nor do I now," Dr. Work wrote, "desire to continue through the approaching campaign, which should be inaugurated next winter."

Expressing regret for the chairman's withdrawal and gratitude for his services, President Hoover in a quick reply to Dr. Work late today disclosed that the former interior secretary had accepted the committee post last June on the condition that he would be permitted to retire soon after the election. The president said he fully realized Dr. Work's desire "that someone else should undertake the increasing burdens and anxieties of the party chairmanship which are imposed by each new campaign."

Successor Unknown

Word of the Republican chairman's resignation spread rapidly in political circles, but little authentic information was forthcoming as to his possible successor.

Secretary Good was among those mentioned as the most likely prospect, along with Ralph Williams of Oregon, a vice chairman of the committee, and James Francis Burke, counsel for the committee and a close friend of Mr. Hoover.

Kills Man, Goes Free; Wounds a Cow, Gets Year

Altus, Okla., June 4 (AP)—Charlie Blair killed a man and went free. He failed to kill a cow and must go to the penitentiary for a year.

Blair was sentenced to the penitentiary today when he pleaded guilty to a charge of cruelty. He had shot and wounded a cow without dispatching the animal.

Earlier this year he was released at a preliminary hearing after pleading self-defense in connection with the slaying of Hayes Wampler. Both men lived at Duke, Okla.

Frazee, Former Red Sox Owner, Passes

New York, June 4 (AP)—Harry H. Frazee, who, as owner of the Boston Red Sox Baseball club, sold Babe Ruth to the Yankees in 1920 for the record price of $137,000, died at his Park avenue home today after an illness of more than a year. He was 48 years old.

Frazee bought the Red Sox, then world champions, after the close of the 1916 season for $500,000,, and sold them seven years later for $1,250,000. He was widely known in the theatrical world and had produced several successful shows.

ASK DISPOSAL OF TARIFF BY NOVEMBER 15

TO MAKE HUGE SUM AVAILABLE FOR FARM BOARD

Washington, June 4 (AP)—An agreement for final disposition of the tariff bill by November 15 was proposed in conferences of congressional leaders today as the basis for a recess beginning next week and carrying through until early September.

Sentor Simmons of North Carolina, ranking Democrat on the senate financing committee, announced this date was acceptable to him and this was expected to influence the senate Democrats. If a two-thirds vote can be mustered for this program it will be proposed in the senate by Senator Watson of Indiana, the Republican leader, as soon as the farm relief bill is enacted into law.

Final congressional action on the tariff measure by November 15 would assure its disposition before the regular session opens in December, as demanded by President Hoover. The senate would have to vote on the bill by late October in time to allow time for plenty of discussion on the conference report adjusting differences between the senate and house.

Make Huge Sum Available

Unless such an agreement is forthcoming the administration will sanction a recess lasting only until mid-August, when the senate finance committee expects to have the house tariff measure ready for senate consideration.

The house amended the census-reapportionment bill in two vital respects today, first to exclude aliens and then to exclude persons over 21 not entitled to vote from the census count upon which house reapportionment is to be based.

A major topic of interest on Capitol Hill was word that administration leaders were ready to make $500,000,000 available to the proposed federal farm board upon enactment of farm relief. Meanwhile predictions of final action on farm relief were heard with circulation of reports that the senate and house conferees were nearing a solution in their attempt to compromise differences between the bills passed by the two branches.

Attack Speculation

The senate did not even breach the Nye motion for repeal of the national origins immigration basis today, on account of debate on stock market speculations. The bill, authorizing a new short term government security, to be sold at a discount, provoked the stock market discussion. The securities measure was passed.

Senator Couzens, Republican, Michigan, and Glass, Democrat, Virginia, led the attack on the "orgy of speculation" in stocks which they contended had cost legitimate business hundreds of millions of dollars in increased money rates.

The national origins discussion will be resumed tomorrow with prospect of a decision on it by Thursday. Both sides still claim the margin in this controversy.

Ask Textile Probe

A new subject promising much debate reached the senate in the report from the manufacturers committee on the resolution of Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, for an investigation of labor conditions in the textile industry. Senator Hale, Republican, Maine, presented the majority report asking that the federal trade commission and the tariff commission conduct the investigation. Senator Wheeler will ask for a senate inquiry.

Governmental regulation of motor buses engaged in traffic between the states under authority comparable to that now exercised over the railroads by the interstate commerce commission was asked in a bill reintroduced by Chairman Couzens, of the senate interstate commecre committee, who offered a similar proposal last session.

Acting Chairman James of the house military committee introduced a bill to authorize an appropriation of $885,000 for construction of additional class buildings and barracks at West Point Military Academy.

Another amendment of the senate rules growing out of publication of a purported roll call on the confirmation of Irvene L. Len-

Grave Charges Cited Against Vestris Crew

London, June 4 (AP)—Grave charges against the owners and crew of the liner Vestris were contained today in testimony before the British board of trade inquiry into her sinking.

Much of the evidence was given through affidavits but some orally.

Alfred Woods, general manager of the Lamport & Holt Line, owners of the ship, admitted that after an incident in 1926, when it was alleged that the Vestris sailed overloaded, he had taken no steps to supervise loading of the company's liners.

Admits Breaking Law.

"In other words," said the attorney general, "Lamport & Holt left their vessels abroad free to break the law governing British ships?"

"Yes," Woods replied.

Very severe criticism of the crew's action, or alleged want of action, just before and just after the Vestris sank, was presented in affidavits on behalf of two passengers.

"Every person on board might have been saved had things not been left until the last moment," declared H. C. W. Johnstone, a Trinidad oil producer.

Lacked Leaders.

Captain Frederick Sorensen, of New York, a master mariner and a passenger on the Vestris, in an affidavit said he had taken the tiller of the lifeboat which picked him up. The boat was waterlogged and he approached another boat, which did not seem to be full, to transfer some of his passengers.

"I didn't see the number of it but other passengers said it was No. 1 It lay there a little while and when we were finally swamped they pulled away," stated Captain Sorensen in his affidavit.

"Of course I felt very bitter against that crew at the time. I admit I would have taken a shot at them if I had had a gun. Now it's all over and I can see they were panicky themselves — men without a leader."

The inquiry was adjourned today until June 17.

A general outburst against "the orgy of stock market speculation" occurred in the senate.

The house neared a final vote on the census-reapportionment bill.

VILLAGE IS IN PATH OF LAVA

Eruptions of Vesuvius More Violent; Natives Flee in Panic

(BULLETIN)

Naples, June 4 —Mount Vesuvius burst into a new and more violent eruption tonight after a brief period when the disturbance seemed to have come to an end. For an hour the eruptive cone sent a gigantic wave of lava into "The Valley of Hell" and shot a barrage of red hot stones high into the air over the crater.

Naples, June 4 (AP)—Two walls of molten lava six feet high streamed tonight from Vesuvius toward its ancient prev. Pompeii, destroying woods and vineyards and threatening several towns.

The inhabitants had evacuated Barre and part of Terzigno and fled, panic-stricken to Torre Annunziata on the Gulf of Naples. The glowing liquid rock tonight was only a few yards from the abandoned homes in Barre and destruction of the village seemed inevitable within a few hours unless rapid cooling halted the lava stream.

Grows Serious

The eruption began yesterday. Predictions of experts that it would gradually wear itself out without causing serious damage were contradicting this morning by a sudden bursting forth of the molten mass at the tremendous velocity of ten feet a second. The eruptic cone was broken and the smoking stream poured through the "Valley of Hell." It then divided into two branches, one making directly for the gulf in the direction of Boscotrecase and the other bearing down on the towns along the railroad skirting the eastern base of the volcano.

Railroad authorities kept special trains in readiness at strategic points either to remove residents if danger becomes acute or to rush assistance from the coast.

Canzoneri Trounces Ignacio Fernandez

New York, June 4 (AP)—Tony Canzoneri, former featherweight champion, gave Ignacio Fernandez of the Philippines, a thorough trouncing and won the decision in their 10-round match at the Queensboro Stadium tonight. Canzoneri weighed 129¾; Fernandez 128.

GERMANY WILL PAY HUGE SUM OF 9 BILLION

10-YEAR DISPUTE ENDED BY U. S. EXPERTS

Paris, June 4 (AP)—Ten years of controversy over the payment by Germany of reparations for damages caused during the World war to the allies ended today in a compromise which largely was due to the patient and skillful mediation of American delegates to the reparations conference.

From a formidable total of $125,000,000,000 claimed in the original allied demands filed with the peace conference at Versailles in 1919, the new settlement agreed upon today scales down what Germany must pay to approximately $9,000,000,000.

This sum is between a third and a fourth of the $33,000,000,000 fixed by the reparations commission in 1923.

Huge Reduction

The enormous reduction in the amount to be paid the reparations creditors of Germany represents changes in sentiment and evolution in ideas regarding financial and economic possibilities that have taken place since Wilson, Clemenceau, Lloyd George and others signed the treaty of Versailles.

The reduction is almost a direct consequence of the celebrated Locarno pact, signed in 1925, which set going the idea of conciliation between the former enemies of the World war.

Out of the final settlement, the European associates of the United States in the war will get enough from Germany to pay their war debts to the United States with a portion of their outlay for reconstruction.

France Biggest Creditor

France, who is the biggest reparations creditor and the biggest war debtor, will receive enough to pay both great Britain and the United States, with about a quarter of her outlay for the reconstruction of her devastated regions and for pensions.

The final settlement cannot be said to have satisfied everybody. The French consider themselves losers by a big margin, if receipts are considered in comparison with outlay. But they, along with everybody else, apparently are ready to accept the decision as the best likely ever to be carried out.

German Capacity Realized

It is recognized that Germany's capacity to transfer money is far

KING ACCEPTS RESIGNATION

Conservatives Out; Believe MacDonald Will Head New Cabinet

London, June 4 (AP)—King George today disposed of the fears entertained a few months ago that it might be necessary to create a regency to deal with a change in the government, by the expedition with which His Majesty accepted the resignation of the Conservative government and sent for a new Labor one.

Stanley Baldwin, prime minister of England since October, 1924, placed the resignation of the Conservative cabinet in the king's hands at Windsor Castle this morning. From his sickbed His Majesty accepted the resignation and, undoubtedly on the advice of Mr. Baldwin, forthwith summoned Ramsay MacDonald, leader of the Labor party, by telephone.

Mr. MacDonald will be invited tomorrow at Windsor to attempt to form a new ministry.

It is customary for the seals of office to be exchanged in the presence of the king, but this formality probably will be postponed until next week because of his illness.

Second Labor Government.

The prospect of a Labor government excites nothing of the wonder and apprehension among the British public today than it did six years ago. Then, for the first time, the man who had been vilified as a pacifist during the war was called to be the prime minister of England.

When Mr. MacDonald sees the king tomorrow it is presumed that he will be able to give His Majesty at least the names of the men he is counting on to fill the principal ministerial posts. But it may be the end of the week, or even later, before the cabinet list is completed.

Negro Women Fail In Bank Holdups

Detroit, June 4 (AP)—An armed negro woman adopted noted bandit tactics this afternoon when she covered John Drost, 22, a teller at the Conant and Caniff branch of the First State Bank of Hamtramck with a relover and commanded him to hand over $1,500 on the counter.

The woman pushed an illegible note toward Drost and when the teller looked up from the slip he found himself facing a revolver. The woman escaped.

An attempt of a negro woman to hold up the Forest avenue branch of the Peoples Wayne County bank yesterday afternoon failed when she became frightened after Charles Bonino, the teller, had shouted to bystanders to "get that woman."

The woman presented a canceled bank book to Bonino and then pointed a revolver at him. She escaped in a taxicab.

Lindbergh Yacht At Provincetown

Provincetown, Mass., June 4 (AP)—A cabin cruiser, said by coast guard officials to be the same boat which left Woods Hole today and believed to be the honeymoon craft of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh and his bride, entered the harbor here tonight. The craft was about a mile and a half off shore, and its pilot apparently was in quest of an anchorage.

Flint—Use of prisoners as laborers in sugar beet fields was protested yesterday in a letter sent to Gov. Fred W. A third negro of the gang is being sought.

RELICTED LAND FIGHT STARTED

Launch Statewide Campaign to Aid Lake Frontage Owners

Lansing, June 4 (AP)—A statewide organization is to be perfected to campaign for legislation to give Great Lakes frontage owners title to the water's edge, it was decided by a meeting of real estate operators and owners here today. Veto by Governor Green of the Atwood bill to give riparian owners possession to the water's edge will cost the state tens of millions of dollars a year, it was claimed.

The proposed organization will seek to exert pressure for a special session of the legislature. It also may finance an appeal to the United States supreme court in an effort to overturn a state supreme court ruling that relicted lands are public property.

J. J. Fagan, of Muskegon, asserted residents of other states are withholding eight to ten million dollars in prospective purchases of frontage because they cannot get title to the water. A representative of a Chicago syndicate declared his company has abandoned plans for a $10,000,000 development near Rogers City because of the situation.

Many Suggestions.

A. M. Larson, of Muskegon, charged that tourist and resort bureaus have been afraid to get behind the drive for legislation to give riparian owners title to the water because the legislature appropriated funds for advertising Michigan which are to be apportioned to them.

Many suggestions were made. A speaker wanted all Great Lakes frontage owners to refuse to pay taxes until the state gives title to the water, another proposed placarding automobiles with signs proclaiming the state is losing $100,000,000 a year in resort and tourist business because of the relicted land situation.

A committee of five was appointed to draft tentative plans for a lake frontage protective organization.

Northwest Protests New Tariff Measure

Washington, June 4 (AP)—Contending the tariff bill passed by the house constituted a betrayal of agriculture and failed to grant to farm products the protection promised by the Republicans in the last campaign, several hundred individuals and organizations of the northwest joined in a protest against the measure in a telegram today to Chairman Smoot of the senate finance committee.

The protest, signed by persons and farm organizations in North and South Dakota, Montana and Minnestota, agreed that some increases in rates had been given farm products but declared this benefit was taken away by levying higher duties on manufacturing commodities.

Aside from receipt of this protest, there was little activity in tariff circles during the day. No progress was made on the question of fixing a date for a final vote on the bill in the senate.

Prince Henry Rivals Brother; Falls from Horse

Vancouver, B. C., June 4 (AP)—His Royal Highness Prince Henry, Duke of Gloucester, son of King George, suffered a fracture of the collar bone here today when his mount slipped and fell during a polo game.

The prince was attended by a physician at the field and later in his suite by two others, who issued this bulletin:

"The fall resulted in a complete fracture of the outer collar bone. The fracture is not commuted and the result will be excellent. The X-ray following reduction shows the fragments to be excellent position."

Columbus, O., June 4 (AP)—One convict was shot and seriously wounded and three others escaped in a break for freedom from the Junction City brick plant of Ohio penitentiary today. below the original allied claims, while the German deliveries in kind are proving a sort of economic boomerang which threatens the industrial prosperity of the creditor countries.

The points remaining to be completed in the report of the conference affect principally the proposed international bank and deliveries in kind. The British delegation has introduced the idea that payments in kind should be progressively diminished and abolished as soon as possible.

GRAIN PRICES AGAIN ADVANCE

Government Action to Stabilize Agriculture Behind Advance

Chicago, June 4 (AP)—The convalescent grain market received another dose of good medicine today and evinced a new interest in life.

Congressional intentions to stabilize agriculture with a preliminary $500,000,000 appropriation as an immediate probability was the remedial potion. Coming a half hour before the grain markets closed, the news pricked traders into action and wheat prices spurted to finish 3 7-8 to 6 1-8 cents above Monday's close, resting at the day's highest levesl. Wheat for July delivery was quoted at $1.08 5-8 to 7-8 and for September at $1.13 to $1.13½.

In two days—in fact, in less than an hour's trading at Monday's opening and today's close—wheat has scored the almost unprecedented advance of 10½ to 12 cents a bushel, enhancing the value of the huge crop surplus of 1928 by millions of dollars. In the same span of time corn values have moved up from 7 7-8 cents to 9 1-4 cents a bushel.

The following figures show the advance of prices for July futures in wheat and corn from the close of the market Saturday to today's finish:

Wheat—Close June 1, .98 1-8 to 1-4; close June 4, 1.08 5-8 to 7-8.

Corn—Close June 1, .80 7-8 to .81 1-8; close June 4, .89 3-4 to .90 1-8.

Corn was 3 7-8 to 5 1-8 cents higher for the day, July contracts at 89 3-4 to 90 1-8 cents a bushel and September at 91 to 91½ cents. Oats finished 1½ to 1 7-8 cents up, July at 44 5-8 and September at 44 to 44 1-8 cents.

Annual Convention Of Shriners Opens; 6000 Stage Parade

Los Angeles, June 4 (AP)—Six thousand shriners, garbed in all the colors of the rainbow, surged thrtough sunlit streets today in a mtjestic parade to the Coliseum to open the fifty-fifth annual convention of the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine.

Incolumns extending thirty blocks the funmakers of free masonry, with banners flying, thrilled the throngs of spectators who banked the avenue of march ten rows deep.

A modern Arabia in all its glory had been transplanted into the heart of this southern California metropolis and the thousands who came to watch roared the visitors a stirring welcome.

The parade swept every programmed event of the crowded schedule to the side lines, despite the fact that the serious business of electing a mayor faced Los Angeles. Leading it as grand marshal was General Robert Wankowski of Al Malaikah Temple, Los Angeles, followed by his escort of nobles in decorated automobiles.

STINSON PLANE AT LOCAL FIELD

Big Ship Is Piloted by Veteran; Remains Here a Week

The big Stinson-Detroiter, six passenger cabin monoplane owned by Messrs. Thomas and Bellstrom, Negaunee, arrived at the Upper Peninsula Airways, Inc., field about 11:30 yesterday morning. C. Harold Wescoat, president of the airways, returned with the ship.

It was piloted here by Einar Leimantine, one of the Detroit company's crack pilots. Leimantine is a veteran in the game having been in it for years. He piloted ships for the Pacific Coast Air Service when the air transport lines were first established. This firm with their headquarters at Oakland, Cal., are engaged in passenger trade, student instruction and forest patrol work. They cover the northern part of California. Leimantine has never had a "crackup".

The ship will remain at the field until Monday, when it will leave for the Sault to take part in the Upper Peninsula Air Tour, June 10-15. It will be the official plane of Frank L. Betts, Menominee, president of the U. P. Airways commission and W. F. Doyle, Menominee, during the tour.

Carson soid his rights to a company organized to fight his cases in court. He is a shareholder in the company.

Superior, Ariz., June 4 (AP)—The battle for supremacy in C. C. Pyle's bunion derby continued today in the sixty-sixth lap and Johnny Salo, the flying cop of Passaic, N. J., climbed back into the lead, deposing Pete Gavuzzi, his bewhiskered rival of England.

Salo tied for first place in today's lap with Sam Richman, of New York, in the 21-mile grind over hills from Miami to Superior, in two hours and 38 seconds. He overcame Gavuzzi's lead of 16 minutes and 38 seconds and forced to the front by 13 minutes, 16 seconds.

Detroit "Blue Law" Vetoed by Lodge

Detroit, June 4 (AP)—Mayor John C. Lodge tonight vetoed the "blue law" passed by the Detroit city council last week, forbidding the "sale or distribution of foodstuffs" on Sunday. The council acceded to the mayor's action.

In his veto message the mayor declared that "were the ordinance enforceable and enforced it would work a great hardship upon many thousands of our citizens who cannot afford iceless refrigeration and cannot keep sufficient ice to last over Sunday."

He said the only people who would benefit from the law would be owners of chain grocery stores who do not keep their places of business open Sundays.

BANKER'S WIFE BEATEN, SLAIN

Body of Woman, Brutally Killed, Found Hanging in Closet

(BULLETIN)

Los Angeles, June 4 (AP)—William Tallman, ship radio operator who was charged in a district attorney's complaint with the murder of Mrs. Virginia Patty here, was reported by radio tonight from the Steamer Admiral Benson to have been placed under arrest on board the ship. The radiogram from the ship's captain stated that Tallman was being held prisoner in his stateroom, he having shipped as a passenger.

Los Angeles, Cal., June 4 (AP)—Mrs. Frank Patty, a banker's wife, was found beaten to death here today, her body hanging in a closet in an apartment. Police ordered the arrest of William C. Tallman, former employe of a radio broadcasting company in San Francisco.

Mrs. Patty apparently had been beaten with a hammer. Her skirt had been used to hang the body to a hook in the closet.

Little was known of the circumstances leading to the slaying.

Discover Body

Mrs. E. Lowell, manager of the apartment house, said a man about 25 years old, slender and of lgiht complexion, rented the apartment recently under the name of W. C. Johnson. Mrs. Lowell knew nothing about a woman and the discovery of the body was the first intimation a woman had been in the apartment.

Patty, connected with a Portland, Ore., bank, said he had lived here with his wife three years. He said he returned yesterday from a trip north and failing to find his wife set out to hunt her this morning. He collapsed when told of her death.

Mrs. Patty was described as "young and red-haired." The bruised condition of her hands indicated she had fought her assailant desperately. In San Francisco the former employers of Tallman said he was employed by the broadcasting company as a radio operator until last January. Officials of this company said he was of a reticent nature and had few acquaintances.

Denies Knowledge of Crime

Tallman today left San Pedro aboard the steamer Admiral Benson for his home in Oakland, Cal. He denied all knowledge of the murder and said he had not seen Mrs. Patty since last Thursday.

In Oakland, Tallman's father, Harry Tallman, said his son had told him that he intended to marry the young woman. The elder Tallman said his son left for Los Angeles two weeks ago to find work and prepare for the wedding. Harry Tallman also said his son did not know the woman was married.

Hope of Settling Chicago Strike Promptly Fades

Chicago, June 4 (AP)—Prospects for prompt settlement of the structural and ornamental iron workers strike which is hampering more than $100,000,000 in building projects and keeping approximately 3,000 men out of work dimmed today as employer and union representatives adjourned their conference with little accomplished.

Negotiations got off to a bad start, when the building construction employers association announced it withdrew its offer of 50 cents a day wage increase and would do no better than continue the old $12 a day scale. This action was taken, said Edward M. Craig, executive secretary, because the workers last night voted to insist on $13 a day.

lation. Then came the stage in which many of the leading bankers recommended an increase in the rediscount rate, but the view held here was that this would mean a violent collapse and perhaps general danger to the business situation. That is why friends of the board in congress are preparing to point out that notwithstanding the criticism that it was attempting to restrain business, the board was in fact attempting to avert a serious alternative—a breakdown in business.

There is every reason to believe that President Hoover, while fully aware of all the ramifications of the reserve board's policy, did not himself take any part in the evolution of the policy, though he concurred with the steps that were taken and believes the board has saved the country from an inordinate era of speculation with its consequent dangers to the commercial credit structure.

The board is insistent that it has no feeling one way or the other about the stock market as such and is only concerned with the original purpose of the federal reserve act—namely, to see to it that business and commerce have an adequate supply of credit at reassonable rates, with the end of the first stage in the board's policy of helping the country readjust itself this year to the implication of the seven-year cycle that began in 1922, the expectation of easier money for business and particularly the building industry is counted upon to offset some of the ill-effects of the agricultural depression.

INDIANS HAVE BLOODY SCRAP

Family Troubles on Harris Reservation Aired in Court

Menominee—With a knife stab in his shoulder and arm which had required 12 stitches to close, Peter Meshiaud, 21, of the Pottowatomie reservation at Harris, has charged Frank Wilson, 32, a Finlander "squaw man" residing on the reservation, with murderous assault in a fight at the home of Alex Philomen Saturday night. Meshiaud alleges he fought Wilson in defense of his cousin, Mrs. Philomen, whom the Finlander attacked. Wilson was brought to the county jail by Peter Houle, deputy sheriff of Harris. His hearing was set for later in the week.

The Philomen family came to Menominee to help Meshiaud place the case before the prosecuting attorney and get their family affairs straightened out. They complained that every time they insisted that Wilson have a regular marriage ceremony performed uniting their daughter, Ellen, 18, and Wilson, the latter "got mad" and a quarrel resulted. Wilson and Ellen have been living together at the Philomen home since last July and have a cute boy papoose, age two months. His "son-in-law," Philomen declared, mistreated Ellen. Wilson, he said, came to Indiantown from Negaunee.

Ellen, however, at the county jail with her baby visiting Wilson, declared that she is fond of him and that he treats her "all right." The trouble, she declared, is that her father and mother and other Indians, make Pottawatomie talk when Wilson is around and he "gets mad" because he thinks they are talking and laughing about him. She declared that if they keep her man in jail they got to keep her there, too.

Alex Philomen said that Wilson got drunk at Harris Saturday and hired Meshiaud to drive him home to the reservation. Louis Philomen, brother of Alex, said that on the way they stopped at his house and he had a row with Wilson when the latter went upstairs and bothered his daughters. He said Wilson drew the knife on him but he shoved him out of the house.

When Wilson and Mishiaud got to Alex Philomen's, the latter said Wilson stood in the doorway without uttering a word for five minutes, and when Mrs. Philomen, who, he explained, does not speak English well, said something in Pottawatomie, Wilson rushed at her. Mishiaud intervened and he and Wilson fought it out in a bedroom. Philomen said he had been holding Ellen's baby and when he reached the room Pete and Wilson jammed in the baby's buggy but that Wilson "wouldn't give up."

Finally, Philomen said, Pete took a couple more pokes at Wilson and the latter "gave up." Wilson and Pete sat on the bed resting and Philomen went out of the room. Pete followed Philomen and Wilson called him back to slash him with the knife. Pete fought with his slashed shoulder and Philomen came to his aid and between them they got Wilson down and bound him with a clothes line. Then they called the deputy sheriff. Mishiaud's wounds were dressed at Daggett.

"Escanaba, Mich., June 4, 1929.
"Editor of Escanaba Daily Press:
"Referring to your recent criticism of three members of the City Council for their action taken on the band budget.

"There is an important underlying principle connected with this action which you must have carelessly or willingly overlooked since the people adopted this form of government, namely, the economic point, which constitutes the first and most important item, supervision of public expenditures and just public criticism of the management.

"When the former City Manager left, the Council was confronted with a cash overdraft of $105,000. To meet this, the Council raised the electric light rates. Did you inform the people on this score?

"The City Hall, built in 1902, has never been paid for and no provision made to pay for it. Did you inform the people about this?

"Every year without exception since the adoption of this form of government the budget has been over-spent many thousands of dollars. What comments or criticisms have you ever offered the people on this score? Last year's budget is a fair example of this state of affairs. The Council was informed that the city management would spend $188,128.60. When the year passed, the amount spent was $135,427.20, an over-expenditure of $17,298.60. We are convinced, from the expenditure we have had to date on city affairs, that this is due to a lack of fair publicity and interested supervision.

"If the action of the City Council on the band budget will serve the purpose of bringing this apathy and indifference on your part before the people, we will feel gratified.

"We believe one of the essential things that this city requires is a newspaper unbiased by political ambitions and devoted to the city's best interests.

"We have fixed our 1929 budget and hope you will co-operate with us in seeing that these funds are wisely spent and trust you will keep the public informed and interested in seeing if our record this year can set a mark for the future. We believe it can be easily done.

"Sincerely yours,

DESERVES SUPPORT.

THE ESCANABA Kiwanis club is sponsoring a concert, on Saturday night, June 15, by the Park Region Luther College choir.

This is not a money-making venture on the part of the Kiwanis club. The cost of bringing a choir of fifty voices to Escanaba, providing one day's entertainment at a hotel, and the other details, coupled with the exceptionally low price at which tickets are offered, precludes any thought of a profit for the sponsors. That is not expected.

The club's only object in bringing the choir here was to afford an opportunity for music-lovers of the community to hear an organization which metropolitan music critics have pronounced one of the finest in the United States.

One frequently hears the complaint that residents of cities of this size seldom have a chance to hear the best talent of the world of music and the arts. Do we really want the opportunity, occasionally, to hear such talent? Attendance at the Park Region college concert will be an answer to that question.

To give a choir which has been compared by one critic with the famous St. Olaf's, a "hand-full" audience, will hardly encourage other local organizations to do as Kiwanis has done and sponsor similar worth-while attractions in the future. On the other hand, a large crowd would indicate that those who express a desire to hear the very best in music mean what they say.

The Press has an idea that there are plenty of Escanabans who really love good music to make this concert a success.

HOW IMPORTANT IS NEW YORK?

THE DIRECTOR of the New York Welfare Council, issuing some sort of statement about the work of his organization, speaks of New York as "the biggest, richest and most important city in the world."

Very likely it is the biggest, although a Londoner might be disposed to start an argument about it. Surely it is the richest; never in all history has there been such a concentration of wealth in one place. But most important? That's something else again.

We have always worshipped bigness in this country. It is instinctive for us to feel that the largest thing must be the best. And it is easy to be dazzled by New York. Stay there for a while and you get the feeling that nothing that happens anywhere else really matters. You speak of other places as "the provinces," and feel sorry for the luckless mortals who cannot experience the subway jams, cramped living quarters and eternal confusion of the metropolis.

Yes, New York is very big and dazzling. But most important? It is foolish to call it that. There isn't any "most important" city—or, if there is, its identity is different for each man on earth.

Your own most important city may be the town you live in. It may be the place where you were raised, made important to you now by the haze of old memories that has settled about its unforgotten outlines. Or it may be some distant town where something important once happened to you; a town in which you got one of those momentary, elusive experiences that life sometimes offers, in which the heavens were parted and you could see, for a space, your own divinity.

Things like that happen unexpectedly. They are not explainable. They come without being asked, and they cannot be made to come back on demand. Yet all of us, at one time or another, experience them.

A man goes on his daily round, as he has gone on it for years, unsuspecting. Then, one day, there comes a moment in which things are transfigured, and the world wears a new aspect. His familiar home street, perhaps, appears to him in a new light. It is no longer an ordinary roadway flanked by ordinary houses and apartments; it is an enchanted lane, about which are grouped the temporary stopping places of tired and groping men and women who are making the universal pilgrimage from imperfection to perfection, from ugliness to beauty, from selfishness and cowardice to heroic self-sacrifice.

After that the old routine returns. But it is never quite the same again. The man knows, now, that the world is not what he had supposed it, but far better.

The place where that sort of thing comes to you is, to you, earth's most important spot. Statistics of size and wealth do not count. Every town can be a window through which unseen things can be glimpsed. And life can hold no more important experience.

THE TARIFF AND OUR EXPORTS.

A TRENCHANT bit of comment on the tariff bill which recently passed the House of Representatives is to be found in an article in the current Magazine of Wall Street.

Reviewing the manner in which duties have been raised, the magazine remarks:

"Our foreign trade will be placed under handicaps at a time when we are in special need of expanded outlets for over-producing factories. Our imports will be relatively if not actually reduced, and consequently it will become more difficult for the United States to play the role of a creditor nation, a role which it cannot escape.

"Economic evolution drives us to increased imports as well as exports, but our politics drives us in the opposite direction."

A nation that depends on its foreign trade as much as ours does might give that some earnest thought.

LYRICS OF LIFE

DESERT DAYS.

Above you angry mountains toss
Their heads, and there are streams to cross,
And sometimes it's the crooked trail,
The tangled wood, the windy gale;
And then you come to some low plain,
No tree, no brook, no mountain-chain,
No hill to climb, no dip, no raise,
And know the time of desert days.

But sometime, sitting by your fire,
(For so the wanderer will tire),
When hands grow heavy, limbs grow cold,
(For so they do when men grow old),
You will remember streams you crossed,
And heights you gained, and heights you lost,
But seldom will your memory gaze
Along the path of desert days.

Life has its rivers and its rills,
Its depths of sorrow, and its hills,
And oftentime the heart complains
For endless peace and level plains.
But when old age may sit at last,
And memory review the past,
You will regret not harder ways
But the lost hours of desert days.

CHAPTER XXXII

As Harold opened his mouth to yell for help Huck viciously clapped a hand to his lips. The boy fought desperately but ineffectively. It was too late to save himself now.

The rest of Huck Connor's murderous act was quickly carried out. Holding and silencing Harold with one hand, Huck dealt him a stunning blow with the other.

There was not even a cry as the hurtling body left the window and crashed through space to death below.

Then, almost instantly, Huck set himself to follow the dictates of his rapidly working brain.

He flicked out his handkerchief and ran it over the woodwork of the window to remove any fingerprints he may have left on it. A quick survey of the room assured him that little was amiss. A chair overturned. He righted it in one swift movement.

His glance then fell upon the table that held the ash tray with the butt of the cigaret he had smoked. Huck was too wise to smoke a special brand by which he could be traced, but he knew that Harold did.

Quickly he spread his handkerchief on the table, took up the tray with a corner of it and emptied the contents on the linen. He ran his coatsleeve over the table, and then, satisfied that he had destroyed all clews, turned to leave the room.

At the door he stood listening for a few seconds while he held it slightly ajar and wiped off his fingerprints. Hearing nothing, he opened it wider and peered into the hall. There was no one in sight.

Then, as silently and smoothly as a shadow, Huck stepped out and made his way to his own rooms.

* * *

Harold's body was discovered soon afterward. A guest on a lower floor had glimpsed a falling object as it passed his window and instantly called the office to report his belief that it was a body.

Mr. Dazel himself rushed to the roof of the adjoining building after a glance from the nearest window. But first he stopped to send word to the house physician.

The assistant manager and several other hotel attaches followed. They found the body lying face downward. But enough of the features showed to make its identity recognizable.

"My God! It's Harold Judson!" Mr. Dazel cried and went down on his knees beside the body. He reached out his hands.

Someone touched him on the shoulder. "Have to leave it as it is for the medical examiner, sir. He's done for."

Mr. Dazel sprang to his feet. "Call the police," he ordered his assistant. "And you, Cummings, fetch some blankets."

That was all they could do.

The house physician arrived on the scene shortly afterward and pronouced the boy dead.

It was dark, a glorious sapphire darkness, before the medical examiner gave permission for the body to be moved. It was taken to a funeral director's establishment and Pamela was not allowed to view it.

Up in Harold's rooms the hotel detective and the police had been making their investigations. Nothing aroused their suspicions that it was more than a suicide case or an accident until they came to their scrutiny of the window.

Rather perfunctorily they went over the floor, the baseboard, the window sill and the frames. Then, suddenly, when they had finished inspecting the woodwork their superficial air vanished. They looked at each other gravely—there were three of them—and expressed a single opinion in a single word.

* * *

"Queer."

How could Harold have thrown himself or fallen, from the window without leaving a finger mark there? In falling he would have clutched at something. The curtains, had he caught them, would have been torn. And had his fingers slipped from the woodwork the marks would remain.

"That just about settles the accident theory," the house detective said.

One of the men regarded the window speculatively. Then he stepped forward threw it up, and climbed to the sill where he crouched as though preparing to throw himself out.

When he let himself down again they all agreed that Harold could hardly have jumped from the window without touching the woodwork with his hands.

"It's a safe guess he didn't slip," the third man remarked, looking at the thick carpet under the window.

"And it's just as safe to bet that he didn't go out of that window on his own power," the man who had climbed to the sill declared emphatically. "Looks like murder, boys."

Their task became grim from that moment. The room was searched again but nothing to support their theory was found except the fact that in going over the window a second time they could see that the woodwork had been recently wiped. The second window in the room, which was closed, showed a slight accumulation of coal dust on the sill.

It was obvious that an open window would have collected a greater amount of dust had it not been removed. And the removal was too thorough to have been done by the dead boy's clothing as he was spend to his death.

"How about the door?" one of the officers asked of the hotel detective. "Did Flannigan find it locked when he was put on guard?"

"No," the hotel man said, "but that doesn't mean much. I've had to warn the boy and his sister time and again about leaving their doors unlocked."

"Well, we can't do anything more here," the officer stated. "Come on, Bill, we'll make our report."

When the report was filed it established a theory of the case that was a direct disagreement with the popular belief that Harold Judson had died a suicide's death or been the victim of a fatal accident.

But the police preferred to keep their theory to themselves. They did not want to put the murderer if such there really was in the case, on guard.

A man was sent in haste to the funeral director's establishment and arrived before Harold's clothing had been removed. A minute inspection of his belongings was made and all the metal or hard objects taken for possible fingerprint clews.

* * *

Shortly thereafter all doubt that Harold had met a violent death at the hands of an assassin vanished from the minds of those who learned that on the boy's silver belt buckel was a clear thumbprint that did not belong to the belt's dead owner.

The funeral director was summoned and avowed that no one had touched the belt in his establishment, to the best of his knowledge. To avoid working on a misleading clew the police obtained thumbprints of all persons who have touched the belt after the tragedy. None corresponded with the print on the belt.

"The man who left that thumbprint was the last man to see young Judson alive," Inspector Markeson said in assigning men from the homicide squad to the case. "It looks like a tough job, boys, but I want you to clear it up. Good luck to you."

The investigation immediately centered in and around the Judson Hotel. It was not long before Huck knew that the hotel servants and employes were being questioned in regard to Harold's habits and associates.

Word was brought to him by one of his own henchmen, the waiter who was on duty for room service during what he called the "milk wagon watch."

The information was more casual than it would have been had the man known what the police believed. His orders from Huck had been to see that as little was known of Harold's attendance at his poker parties in the hotel as possible.

"Thought you'd want to know that a couple of John Laws are pussy footin' around for dope on the kid, sir," he said, having been trained by Huck nit to forget that he was a waiter serving a guest.

Huck asked a few questions and convinced himself that the police were still on a false trail. With everyone saying the boy had killed himself it was but natural the police should seek for a motive. Huck was not worried.

But he knew that Mr. Dazel had received a cable from Amos Judson, saying he was flying from London to Cherbourg to catch the first boat sailing from that port to New York.

This was common knowledge about the hotel. Huck had no difficulty in learning of it. It served to heighten his determination to carry out his plans as quickly as possible.

He sent urgent messages to Pamela, asking to see her. She did not answer. For the time being Huck was entirely outside her world as though he'd never known her. Even the flowers he showered upon her brought no word of acknowledgment.

Apparently she was plunged into grief and Huck knew that a number of friends had been admitted to her rooms, which she had not left since the tragedy, and he suspected that she was not so crushed as her seclusion would indicate.

His failure to reach her compelled him to notify Ras Poberlin of a delay in the plans they had made on his recent visit to the man's "poultry farm."

Poberlin's wife complained over the letter. She said she'd been to a lot of trouble carrying out Huck's instructions. She damned him up one side and down the other for his "swell" ideas.

Pamela, beautifully recumbent upon her lacy pillows, where she wept fitfully and pitied herself for having lost her only brother, would have been amused at the result of Rose Poberlin's attempt to create an atmosphere fit to receive her.

Her amusement would have been shortlived, however, if Huck's determination to introduce her to the Poberlins had been known to her.

Knowing nothing of either Rose Poberlin or Huck's plans, she busied herself with selecting becoming mourning garb.

Baffled in his efforts for the time being, Huck set himself to devise some way of breaking down the barrier she had erected between them. He was still unsuccessful when he received a message that sent him in haste to see Duke Broggan.

HEALTH

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine.

EDITORS NOTE: This is the last of a series of six articles, "Learning to Be a Doctor," written by Dr. Morris Fishbein.

The growth of clinics, the development of the hospitals, the infant welfare stations, the demonstrations by foundations, the commercialized group practice, the work of university groups, the special institutes devoted to periodical physical examinations, to life extension, to venereal and other diseases—all these represent attempts to find the answer to the great problem of the cost of medical care.

These things are making people think. The public is realizing that there is a difference—a vast difference—between the best medical care and the average.

The physicians know that difference better than anyone else. The sentimentally minded sociologists insist that the middle class man as well as the poor and the rich are entitled to the best medical care. But the best medical care is time-consuming, intricate, expensive procedure, far beyond the reach of the average man.

The problem of the future is the provision of the best medical care to all of the people at a price that they can afford.

It should be emphazied that the bill of the physician represents but one small portion of that cost. The total cost represents actually the advancement in medical science and in medical care, including the use of the laboratory, the X-ray, hospitals, nurses, and many other factors. Certainly the medical profession does not roll in wealth. The income of the average physician would be disdained by any first-class plumber.

The public must realize that regardless of the eventual nature of medical practice, physicians will be required for the work. Individualization increases the cost of medical service. A greater organization of medical experts for service to a greater number at a smaller cost will come in the future. To the solution of this problem the medical profession is bending its greatest efforts.

Commercialized, mechanized medical practice, either that provided by salaried physicians, employed by corporations of business men, or by stock companies, or partnerships of physicians who are good business men, is not the best form of the practice of medicine.

Such things have failed in the past, except where they have developed to meet a peculiar local condition, and they will continue to fail in the future. Business is business and medicine is medicine and never the twain shall meet.

A sincere and complete application of what are known as business methods to the practice of medicine would bring down on the profession a revolution beside which the French revolution would be as a sore finger to an amputation of both arms.

AMUSEMENTS

AT THE DELFT

"Simba," the motion picture record made by Mr. and Mrs. Martin Johnson, the famous explorers, during four years in the jungles of Africa, is at the Delft theatre and is one of the most exciting and thrilling films ever seen in this city. It holds not one dull minute from the time the Johnsons load the outfit for their long trek into the jungles up to the startling climax when half-naked natives, armed only with slender spears, surround and kill full grown lions.

Among the outstanding features of the picture are the charge of the infuriated rhino straight at Osa Johnson, who is forced to shoot him to save her own life; the stampede of a herd of elephants, seeking safety from a jungle fire, the swarms of ugly crocodiles infesting the rivers that the party was forced to cross; the gorgeous shots of running giraffes, of speeding antelopes and zebras; perfectly marvelous flashlight photos of lions and leopards; and above all the scene which shows 14 lions, playing in a grassy glade like a lot of big cats.

AT THE STRAND

Glenn Tryon, star of Universal's, "The Kid's Clever," which will be shown at the Strand today and tomorrow is an ardent booster for both the American actor as a comedian and the American writer as a humorist.

"Comedy is typically American," Tryon declared. "The most successful players and films produced are the products of American humorists enacted by American comedians. It is natural for the Americans to laugh and, as a consequence, this country has developed the world's leading funmaker."

30 COLTS IN EPSOM DERBY

English Horses Favored in Running of Famous Classic Today

By P. I. LIPSEY
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Epsom Downs, Eng., June 4 (AP)—Three handsome colts, joint favorites for honors in the ancient and world renowned Epsom derby to be run tomorrow, stepped into their stables tonight ridden by the "ifs" and "buts" of turfdom.

Cradadour, Hunter's Moon and Mr. Jenks are the trio of racing aristocrats, which, despite elements of uncertainty in each, are picked by the experts and public alike as having the best chances of leading the gallant field of Britain's choicest 3-year-olds home in the arduous historic test.

Lord Astor's hopes of winning his first derby after placing second five times rests confidently on Cragadour. This Day colt, however, became ill during his derby training, which interfered with his conditioning for the classic event. Although the stout-hearted racer appeared quite recovered in recent trials, his trouble may collect its penalty before the mile and half up and down hill struggle is completed.

Others Also Favored

Hunter's Moon, Lord Derby's ace entry, has shown speed to burn but suffered sore shins within a week of the supreme event of the turf year, yet he is heavily backed with his two chief rivals at about 8 to 1.

Mr. Jinks received his strongest backing after beating Cragadour by a neck in the 2000 guineas race at Newmarket. Later in the season, however, he bowed to Hunter's Moon in the Newmarket stakes, a longer route. The experts say he is a sound and honest horse, but they also recall that his sire, Tetratema, was a derby favorite only to collapse as he turned into the final half mile dash downhill.

Far behind the fancied trio is the derby dark horse, posterity, owned by Mrs. Corlette Glorney of the United States—the only woman seeking the $73,000 stake this year. While breeders say Mrs. Glorney's entry has derby pedigree second to none, the colt was quoted at 33 to 1 today, with no takers.

American Horses Entered

Gordon Selfridge and A. K. Macomer are the only other Americans sending out horses in quest of the world's most famous horse race. Selfridge has entered P. D. Q., while the Carthaginian will carry the colors of Macomber. Both are quoted at long odds, being given only an outside chance to win.

In popular cockney favor no contender perhaps will have more well wishes than Gay Day, which wears Sir Victor Sassoon's colors. Gay Day will carry Steve Donoghue, most famous of recent derby jockeys, who hopes to reestablish his fortunes with his seventh victory in the Epsom classics.

With the promise of fair weather, more than one-quarter of a million persons are expected to crowd their way around the beautiful Epsom course to see the 30 or fewer colts go to the post. Post time is about 3 p. m. (10 a. m., eastern daylight saving time.) Late scratches may reduce the starting field to 25.

Inauguration of the new combination air-and-rail passenger service in Germany has caused the coining of a new word. It is "Fleiperverkehr," meaning air-rail passenger service. It is a combination from "Flugzeug" (airplane), "Eisenbahn" (railroad) and "Person" (passenger), in which the first few letters of each word were placed before the word "Verkehr" (traffic). The new service permits air passengers to break their journey and continue by railway without extra charge.

Formal Opening of Escanaba Golf Club On Thursday

The formal opening of the Escanaba Golf club will be held Thursday June 6th at 6:30 o'clock when a bridge dinner will mark the opening of the social functions which are held at the club during the season.

"So you've come for Your Wife.... well—we'll let Her decide!"

HE re-read his wife's letter slowly, each word burning into his brain. It seemed impossible that Janet could have written it. No word of endearment, no mention of their wonderful years together, not even a hint of regret. And they had been so happy—so gloriously happy.

Two days later he had traced and found her in a hotel room in a distant city. She was alone, but how changed since the day she had fled! How white and frightened she was! How she clung to him, sobbing, refusing to explain, pleading frantically for him to go.

"He may come any minute," she cried. "He will kill you—kill us both. For myself I don't care. I want to die. But I won't sacrifice you. There are things I can't explain. I love you, I swear it. You are everything in the world to me, but—"

The door opened. A tall, well dressed man entered. At the sight of Janet and her husband together, his dark eyes flamed with anger; his voice, when he spoke, was a stinging lash of scorn.

"So you're the loving husband. And you've come for your wife! Well—we'll see what she thinks about that." He turned to Janet. "Are you going with me, Janet, of your own free will? After all, you are the one to decide."

Her eyes, desperate with mute appeal, wavered from one to the other; her lips trembled as she made a piteous attempt to speak. Finally, in a voice barely audible, she voiced her decision—a decision that raised the curtain on one of the most astounding dramas ever unfolded in a woman's life.

Who was this man? What did he mean in Janet's life? Why had she fled the security of marriage and the happiness of a devoted husband's love to go away with this stranger? This amazing situation has at last been explained in "Why She Disappeared," in July True Story Magazine.

THIS advertisement is addressed to those long-suffering wives who know from experience that "the best way to get a thing done is to do it yourself."

Getting a husband to mail a letter is child's play compared to making him remember to have the battery in the car inspected regularly. But at this time of the year, when you're taking long trips and doing plenty of night driving, it's highly important to always keep your battery in A-1 condition.

So here's our suggestion: Why not put the Exide Service Station on your shopping list and drive in at least once every two weeks so that we can look your battery over?

To Complete Work On Curbings and Gutters in Week

After putting in the curbings and gutters on South Second street and South Fifth street, the Delta Contracting company started work yesterday on Fifth avenue south.

The contractors will be on this street for a week, and then will transfer their operations to the new Gladstone-Escanaba road which will be paved for 1.6 miles between Terrace Gardens and Gladstone. The road job is expected to be completed within three weeks, after which the pavements will be laid on the three streets in the city.

Vacation reflection: The business of resting up is one of the most tiresome we can think of.

Delta County Farmers Are Raising Rabbits

During the past year, quite a number of Delta county farmers and city residents, as well, have taken up the raising of rabbits on a commercial scale. Rabbitries are springing up here and there, and indications are that they will eventually be as common as poultry farms.

Among the enthusiastic rabbit breeders are: Clifford Larson and William Jensen, who operate the Sand Ridge Chinchilla Rabbitry on the Ford River road; James Miller of Stonington; L. A. Erickson, on the Ford River road; Albin Nelson, State road, and Elmer Nelson, Cornell. A large number of farmers in the Bark River and Powers territories are also raising the bunnies.

Rabbit Industry Big.

Rabbits have been bred for food and fur in this country for many years, and during this time the meat of both wild and domestic rabbits has had a place on the American table and the pelts have been a staple in the fur trade.

In the western states, especially southern California, rabbits are produced in large numbers; some breeders keep only 50 or 100 animals, other 1,000 to 5,000, or more. Almost everybody in the rural districts there has at least a few. Several slaughterhouses are operated in the Los Angeles district, where from 25,000 to 50,000 rabbits a month are killed, dressed, and marketed, and the demand still keeps ahead of the supply. Rabbits are served at hotels and restaurants along with other meats, and large quantities are used on the home table. More than $1,000,000 worth of dressed rabbit meat was marketed in the city of Los Angeles in 1926.

In California rabbits are usually marketed as fryers at eight weeks of age, when they weigh about four pounds each. The producer sells his eight-week-old rabbits direct to the slaughterhouse or wholesale meat markets. The dressed rabbits are sold to local meat markets, clubs, hotels and restaurants, or shipped in large numbers to New York, Chicago, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia and other eastern marketing centers. The produced usually receives 18 to 20 cents a pound for live rabbits, a price that nets him a margin of 40 to 50 cents a head over the cost of production. The dressed carcas, with head and feet off and entrails removed, usually retails at 40 to 50 cents per pound.

About 18 Breeds.

There are about 18 breeds of domestic rabbits. The utility breeds, so classed because of their size and ability to produce a marketable carcass and a good pelt, during a reasonable feeding period, are the American, Beveren, Chinchilla, Checkered Giant, Flemish Giant, New Zealand and French Silver. The fancy breeds, which are kept principally for show purposes, include the Angora, Belgian, Dutch, English, Havana, Himalayan, Lilac, Lop, Polish, Silver Gray and Tan.

The age at which rabbits may be bred varies according to the length of time required for them to attain full size. In the utility breeds it may be at five or six months. The period of gestation is 31 days. It is customary to breed each doe four times a year, allowing 31 days for gestation and 60 days for her to raise and wean the young, after which she is bred again. A breeding doe can raise six or eight litters a year, but if bred this frequently she will soon break down and be worthless for further breeding purposes. The number of young in a litter varies greatly. Litters of 10 or 12 occur, and sometimes more, but these are too large for one doe to raise. Only six of the best young should be saved, unless the doe is an exceptionally good mother.

Whether the raising of rabbits in Delta county will be a profitable venture remains to be determined. As the industry is young, the farmers have been devoting most of their time to increasing their stock, and have made no effort to market the rabbits either for meat or fur. The Sand Ridge Chinchilla rabbitry was started last fall with seven does and a buck, and now the farm has about seventy-five rabbits. Joseph Bedore of Hermansville has about a hundred on his place.

Business Women's Club Holds Meet

An important business meeting of the Business and Professional Women's club was held Monday evening at the Ludington hotel, following the dinner at 6:15 o'clock. Plans for the program which is to be held on "charter night" which will be Monday, June 17, at the Ludington hotel, were discussed and the committee consisting of Margaret Compher, Elizabeth Gilmore and Alice Reau, are looking after the details.

"Charter night" will be one of the outstanding events of the season. Elaborate plans are being made for this occasion and it is expected that one hundred per cent attendance will be recorded at the meeting.

Dues for the fiscal year which starts July 1, are now due and every member is asked to try to sent them to the treasurer, Miss Lillian Dupont, at the Escanaba National bank as early as possible.

Louise Primeau was elected as alternate to attend the national convention of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs which will be held at Mackinaw Island at the Grand hotel, July 8 to 13, inclusive. Lillian Reynolds is the delegate and several members of the club have signified their intention of attending the convention. It is probable that the local club will be represented by a large delegation from Escanaba as the reduced rates are very reasonable and many will take advantage of the opportunity to visit Mackinaw Island.

A FIVE-YEAR-OLD FORECAST MORE THAN REALIZED

JUNE 7 1924

"✣ ✣ ✣ the Chrysler is, in reality, the first step in the general revision of motor car design which is bound to follow its advent. ✣ ✣ ✣ For it is an entirely new type of car, built on a new kind of engineering, which produces results radically different from any heretofore registered in the industry."

CHRYSLER'S INFLUENCE ON YOUR CAR

It has become an axiom of the motor car industry that much of what comes tomorrow originates in what Chrysler engineering does today.

For five years, Chrysler has been the acknowledged leader in thrilling performance. For five years, Chrysler has led the way in individuality and modern smartness of design.

Those in possession of the facts know that there is scarcely a motor car today that does not owe some improvement in its make-up to Chrysler — and has not become a better car by reason of Chrysler engineering achievement.

Emulation is a nice compliment to Chrysler leadership, of course. But the mere copying of features cannot equal the complete Chrysler results.

To you who are about to choose a new car, a natural question arises: Why not enjoy a Chrysler itself, so long as Chrysler smartness, comfort, performance and quality are the goals to which other cars are striving? Let us show you in a test of your own choosing the superiority of Chrysler to anything aspiring to compete with Chrysler.

CHRYSLER "75"—$1535 to $1795—Eight Body Styles. ✣ CHRYSLER "65"—$1040 to $1145—Six Body Styles. All prices f. o. b. factory. Chrysler dealers extend convenient time payments.

DOC COLLARS BEAR; GIVES SLEEP DOSES

Bad Tempered Bruin No Problem for Manistique Veterinarian

Speaking of bears, Manistique has a man who has earned considerable notoriety as an expert handler of bruins. The local specialist is Dr. J. A. McPhail, local veterinarian.

Last year Dr. McPhail was called to Fishdam park to help Peter Foye keep his caged bear within bounds. Results were so successful that Mr. Foye was again prompted to call Dr. McPhail a few days ago when he wanted to change a collar on the irritable black denizen of the forest. The old collar had become too tight, and it was making the bear even more ill-tempered, so that the owner feared he might break bonds and escape.

Mr. Bruin resisted all efforts of tact and kindness, so Dr. McPhail again resorted to the use of chloroform. The sleep potion, however, had to be administered with care, for too large a dose would put the animal to sleep permanently. Judging the dose by the breathing of the bear, the quietus was carried to just the right point, and the patient slept peacefully for five minutes, waking up to find that he was wearing a new collar.

HEN HAS BID FOR FAME IN A FREAK EGG

Taking top place as the freak of the season is a double-decker egg discovered recently by Mrs. Frank Morey, 217 Schoolcraft ave., Manistique. It was not a common double yolked egg, but an egg within an egg, the inner one being perfectly formed, and complete with a shell of normal thickness.

The freak was found in a batch of eggs which Mrs. Morey had boiled for the table. When this one was opened, a hard substance was encountered, and out rolled the little egg, all cooked and ready to eat. Mrs. Morey, however, saved it to exhibit as evidence of this unusual feat of Mrs. Hen.

Now will somebody step up and explain how Mrs. Hen did it?

RACE TO FIRE MAY BRING A RUN TO COURT

Manistique Drivers Are Warned About Parking Too Near Apparatus

Anticipating a free show, from 100 to 150 motorists followed up the Manistique fire apparatus Monday night when the siren sounded. While parked around waiting for something to happen, a number of drivers received thrill, but not a pleasant one. An officer of the state police stepped up to tell them that they were standing too close to the fire apparatus, and were subject to arrest.

Some of the victims thought they were arrested, but it was just a warning, and the fire run was just a practice alarm. However, there have been many complaints of late regarding the scores of sight-seeing cars which often hamper the work of the fire department, and steps will be taken to curb this trouble. Those who attend fires are warned to keep their machines far enough away from the fire equipment, or they will be subject to arrest and fine.

THEATRES

RIALTO

It is difficult to conceive Nancy Carroll as shopworn. She is too bright, too elusive, too lovely to give even the faintest suggestion of what the word connotes. Yet she is "The Shopworn Angel" in the absorbing new feature which opens its two day run at the Rialto theatre tonight. Gary Cooper the popular young player of the Paramount studio, is featured with her in this picture.

Nancy Carroll and Gary Cooper are a unique pair of screen lovers Nancy is the dainty super-sophisticated little chorine who has probed the heights and depths of Broadway and has sought and purchased its glittering luxury.

Gary is the shy, bashful, awkward boy from the West, who gets to New York for the first time, when his company mobilizes there on its way to France. These two meet, the clean-minded youth and the gilded Broadway beauty. These two love. Then Nancy realizes that he loves her for what he thinks she is, not for what she really is.

In addition to Nancy Carroll Gary Cooper, Paul Lukas, the "John Barrymore of Hungary," who has won recognition in a long series of important parts on the American screen, has a leading role. There are dancing girls galore and tender, thrilling scenes. It is a super-refined entertainment.

ITCHING ENDS WHEN ZEMO TOUCHES SKIN

It's wonderful the way soothing, cooling Zemo brings relief to itching skin, sunburn, windburn and clears up bites, pimples and rash. Even in severe cases, itching disappears almost as soon as Zemo touches the skin. To draw out local infection and clear away unsightly blemishes there's nothing better than invisible Zemo. Always keep this family antiseptic on hand. Use it freely. It's safe as can be. 35c, 60c and $1.00.

DOUBLES FINALS MATCH PLAYED

Rouman-Schwahn Win Championship in Hard Fought Match

Jim Rouman and Wilson Schwahn, playing a fast, flashy game in which clever placements figured prominently, won the doubles championship of Gladstone high school in their defeat of Mathison and Olson in the finals of the tennis tournament.

The scores were: 6-2, 4-6, 9-7.

The champions took the first set with little trouble, but were outwitted in the second, Mathison and Olson coming from behind to even the count, 6-4, and the final duece set was closely contested every point of the way with the outcome in doubt until the final set point.

The singles' championship will be decided in the final match of that division of the tournament which will probably be played next week. Schwahn and Ken Johnson survivors of the preliminaries are competing for the singles' championship.

The tournament is in charge of Hagel Quarnstrom.

Levi Keyo Glad He Was Arrested In Marinette

Menominee—Most people consider it an indignity to be arrested, but Levi Keyo, 54, of Gladstone, Michigan, told Police Judge Werner N. Schomaker in Marinette that he was glad to have been taken into custody by Patrolman Frank Fiss Sunday.

Keyo, who was fined $5 and costs, amounting to $12.22 on a charge of being drunk and disorderly, told the court that the fact that he was arrested probably saved him from spending all his money in a weekend visit to Marinette. The man had between $70 and $80 on his person when taken into custody.

Total sales 3,414,210 shares.

BY CLAUDE A. JAGGER
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

New York, June 4 (AP) — The stock market again rallied swiftly in moderate trading today. About two score issues were sent up 4 to more than 10 points, but total transactions were but 3,414,210 shares, exceeding yesterday's small turnover by only about 400,000.

Comparatively easy call money, removal of the last obstacle in the way of the signing of the reparations agreement, proposal of a large appropriation to stabilize buying of copper, and a resumption grain prices, further recovery of the grain markets, revived foreign of the gold movement from London for the first time since early February, were factors promoting the rise.

Trading, however, remained largely professional, with the public showing little disposition to come back into the market, after the unpleasant experiences of the past month.

Call Money Firm

Call money was but slightly firmer than yesterday, renewing at 7 per cent, and holding at that rate all day. Rumors again were heard in bullish circles that federal reserve authorities were considering a relaxation of their grip upon credit, but these rumors were without confirmation, and bankers were inclined to the belief that any broad resumption of bullish operations would result in even firmer measures to keep credit from flowing into the stock market.

It was pointed out that the renewed flow of gold from London may again bring a higher discount rate at the Bank of England, which would remove one of the obstacles of a higher rediscount rate at New York. The London rate was raised early in February to check the flow of gold to New York than in progress.

While it is widely believed that the present federal reserve policy of rationing credit may be more effective than higher rediscount rate, it is generally granted that a higher rate would have a serious psychological effect upon the market.

Morning Market Dull

Fears that Monday's short covering may have weakened the market's technical position, and disappointment over the stock exchange's member loan statement caused some hesitancy during the morning, but the market turned sharply upward during the afternoon. Copper, chemical, farm and office equipment, aviation and mail order shares were prominent in the rise. The recent buying movement in the rails and utilities, however, appeared largely to have spent itself for the moment.

In the commodity markets, wheat sold up 5 to 6 cents a bushel on the proposals of farm relief and bullish crop reports from the central west, and corn mounted nearly as much in sympathy and on unfavorable weather reports. Cotton sagged for a time in the morning, but moved up more than $1 a bale in the afternoon. Raw sugar, however, dropped 1-32 of a cent to 3.49 cents a pound, duty paid, the lowest level since 1922, and futures were likewise depressed, July contracts dropping to 1.63 cents, the lowest since the inauguration of futures trading on this market.

In the foreign exchanges, the yen made up most of its 1-3 cent drop of yesterday, on reports that financial conditions have so improved in Japan that the government may lift the ban on gold exports which has been in effect the past 18 months. The Spanish peseta, however, continued its decline, reaching another new low for the year at 13.75 cents. Marks and francs were firm, and sterling held steady.

TEXTILE MARKET

New York, June 4—Cotton textiles opened steady and unchanged. An attempt to peg print cloths 1-8c higher met with little success as cotton reacted. Inquiry for gray goods was light. Burlap cables showed an unchanged condition in Calcutta and the market here was quiet. Spot raw silk prices were stronger. Prints take on more than the usual importance for fall as many houses show new lines. Garment union and manufacturers representatives of the New York cloak and suit trades are meeting to try to adopt a new agreement to prevent a strike in the industry.

Convertibles Lead Bond Action; Sales Are Best in Months

New York, June 4 (AP) — The most active bond market in more than two months today saw convertibles absorbed in large volume at generally higher prices and a further advance in European issues, particularly the obligations of German states, municipalities and industries.

Word that the reparations agreement awaited only the signatures and that time money was holding at 8½ per cent, 1 per cent below the high rate prevalent about a week ago, brought substantial buying orders into the market. Although the best inquiry was for the stock privilege issues and the foreign bonds, domestic securities of all grades attracted considerably more attention than they were receiving in the recent dull sessions.

The Associated Press averages showed that the best gains had been made by the first and second grade rails and the industrials, with the utilities holding close to yesterday's levels.

Advances of 1 to more than 2 points were frequent in the list of German obligations.

Belgian issues were steady, while the French Republic bonds suffered inconsequental losses, also on profit-taking. They closed substantially above the year's lows.

American Telephone Active

American Telephone Convertible 4¼s changed hands in a total volume of nearly $1,500,000 par value, at a net advance of 1 3-4 while the International Telephone issues of the same coupon rate advanced more than half a point. Atchison 4½s, another active stock option bond, lost a point.

Rails of all grades were better taken and numbers of the mortgage issues advanced.

United States government bonds were irregular on the best inquiry in some time.

Sales amounted to approximately $13,000,000 par value against $9,654,000 yesterday. Of the total, about $4,000,000 was account for by the convertibles.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago, June 4—Lightning that flashed out in earnest from Washington today set the grain markets ablaze at last, and wheat prices whirled upward 6 1-8c a bushel. Corn soared a maximum of 5½c and rye exactly 5c. Immense expansion of buying which accompanied the rise in prices followed instantly upon receipt of dispatches telling of administration plans to put into immediate use not one million or two million of dollars for farm relief but a full half billion, the entire appropriation to be authorized by congress.

Closing quotations on wheat were excited at the day's topmost level, 3 7-8 to 6 1-8c above yesterday's finish. Corn closed at 3 7-8 to 5 1-8c up, rye 2½ to 5c advance, oats, at 1½ to 1 7-8c gain, and provisions varying from 2c decline to a rise of 5c.

Complete effects of the day's news from Washington apparently were yet to be witnessed, for the grain trade even when the final gong cleared the broilers from the pits were still unaware that definite action on immediate use of a half billion dollar appropriation was not merely planned but already had been taken by the conference committee of the senate and house at Washington. Hour enough was known to bring about general recognition that farm relief measures swiftly were being made ready for the president's signature, and that the whole of the vast sum of money furnished would be available without delay for any purpose which the judgment of the new national farm board would direct.

Corn, rye and oats acted in thorough sympathy with the advance of wheat. Frost reports from some Illinois points also tended to strengthen the corn market.

Despite downturns in hog values, provisions turned upward with grain.

Mimics Birds To Pay for Education

Minneapolis—Cashing in on a boyhood pastime, John J. Plank, University of Minnesota student, finances his education by mimicking birds at various entertainments.

His fees for the entertainment pay his board, lodging and tuition.

As a boy in Iowa, Plank learned to imitate the calls of birds of that climate. At 15 he was in demand for appearances at church functions. Later he lived in Rouleau, Saskatchewan, where he often fooled birds into answering his calls.

American Super Power Leads Way In Curb Advance

New York, June 4 (AP)—Another violent advance in the American Superpower issues stimulated the recovery of prices in today's curb market. Nearly all groups participated in the rally, although the advance was unevenly distributed. Trading continued in moderate volume, due to the absence of any extended public participation. Unofficial reports that the federal reserve board had relaxed its credit policy, coupled with another sharp advance in grain prices, contributed to the more cheerful feeling among professional speculators.

American Superpower A and B soared 29 1-4 and 21 3-4 to new high records at 217½ and 216, respectively, which contrast with the year's lows of 62 1-4 and 68 established in June. The new stock has risen from 26 to 44 1-8 this month. The company has large equities in the newly organized Commonwealth & Southern and United Corporations and in Public Service of New Jersey and United Gas Improvement.

Aircraft Rises.

Airplane issues presented several points of strength on reports of rapidly expanding business. Fokker was marked up 6 points to 55 7-8.

Oils continued to anticipate further gasoline and crude oil price increases and constructive developments at the Colorado Springs conference this month.

Thompson Products climbed nearly four points on buying influenced by the announcement that company plants are running three shifts on orders from 35 automobile manufacturers. Aluminum Limited jumped 8 points to a new high at 160. Several of the investment trusts, particularly American Cities B. Galdmon Sachs Trading, Haygart and U. S. & Fore'gn Securities also were in good demand as a result of the recent market appreciation of their holdings.

Deny Iowa Plea for Immediate Reinstatement

MUST ABOLISH ABUSES FIRST

University May Prove Faith Before Ouster Takes Effect

Chicago, June 4 (AP)—The University of Iowa today lost the first skirmish in its fight to return to good standing in the Big Ten athletic conference.

After a 5-hour meeting, during which three Iowa representatives promised to do everything possible to stop proselyting and subsidization of athletes, a special conference investigating committee ruled Iowa must wait until it can demonstrate its ability to stop these abuses.

The action carries some hope for Iowa, nevertheless, as the expulsion order, voted by the conference faculty committee 10 days ago, does not take effect until January 1, 1930. By that time, Iowa hopes to prove its good faith and return to good standing without dropping a Big Ten team from its athletic schedule.

Must Prove Intentions

President Walter Jessup led the Iowa delegation, seeking reinstatement at today's meeting, assisted by Professor Louis Pelzer, Iowa's representative on the conference faculty committee and E. T. Lauer, newly appointed director of athletics, the personal of the investigation committee was Professor James Plage of Minnesota, chairman; Professor Thomas E. French, of Ohio State and Professor George A. Goodenough of Illinois.

"The committee's opinion is that it is premature to grant Iowa's petition," a brief statement, issued by the committee, said. "Time must elapse. This will afford Iowa an opportunity to demonstrate her ability to make the resolutions of her governing body effective and to demonstrate to the conference that she can correct the present abuses."

Four Questions Propounded

Iowa showed no disposition to question the justice or propriety of the conference action, the statement added and these questions were asked:

(1) Can Iowa guard effectively the matter of scholarship eligibility?

(2) Can Iowa eliminate the subsidizing of athletes by funds of various kinds and by the abuse of student notes?

(3) Can Iowa restrain the alumni activities and maintain full faculty control?

(4) Is the athletic department willing to disqualify all present athletes who have received improper financial aid?

As the meeting was secret, the exact replies were not divulged. Neither was it revealed whether any request was made that Iowa remove George Bresnahan, track coach and supervisor of athletics. Charges have been made that Bresnahan has been sympathetic toward the alumni activity in subsidizing athletes.

Would Lose Grid Stars

The fourth question indicates that when and if Iowa is restored in good standing, it will have to disqualify approximately 10 athletes, who are alleged to have been subsidized. Among these are Willis Glassgow, Mike Farroh, Oran Pape and Irving Nelson, football stars.

None of the Iowa representatives would discuss the decision today except to say that Iowa was ready to "clean house" athletically and to abide by all rules of the conference.

Another meeting of the faculty committee is expected to consider another Iowa plea before the beginning of the fall semester.

Rome—An "aeromobile" show, devoted exclusively to airplanes used only for touring, will be held here. It will include accessories such as safety devices, navigation instruments and maps.

TIGES FINALLY BEAT MACKMEN

Take Series Final, 8-4; Athletic Rally in Ninth Fails

Philadelphia, June 4 (AP)—After losing three straight to the Athletics, the Detroit Tigers turned the tables in the final game of the series today by taking an 8 to 4 decision and stopped the league leaders' winning streak of six in a row.

The Tigers forced into the lead by hammering Quinn off the box in the fourth inning in a batting flurry that netted four runs. Heilmann and Shea hit home runs off Orwoll, each with one on base in the seventh and eighth innings, respectively.

Dykes hit a home run with one on base in the home portion of the seventh. Sorrell was relieved by Stoner in the ninth when the Mackmen got to him for a run and the bases were filled with two out. Stoner retired Simmons for the last out on a pop foul.

Detroit Scores First

Dale Alexander started the Tiger scoring spree in the fourth inning by doubling to right after Heilmann lined to Dykes. McManus tripled to center, scoring Alexander. Shea walked. Miller muffed Sigafoos' fly, and McManus scored. Shea took third and Sigafoos second on the error. Sorrell was thrown out by Bishop. Johnson beat out a high bounder to Hale, Shea going home and Sigafoos taking third.

Old Jack Quinn was sent to the showers, and was replaced by Orwoll. Gehringer lined out.

Each team got two runs in the seventh inning. Gehringer singled after Johnson and Rice were out, stole second and went to third on Dykes' error. Heilmann knocked the ball into the left field stands for a home run. Hale singled to start the home half of the inning and went to second on a wild pitch by Sorrell. After Foxx and Miller were out, Dykes hit a home run into left field.

Rally Nipped

In the eighth inning McManus singled, then Shea hit a home run, also into the left field stands. The Athletics' ninth inning effort was good for one run. Heilmann, who was called out on strikes to end the Detroit half of the ninth, was put out of the game for protesting and Fothergill played the last inning in the outfield. Miller singled to right. Orwoll and Bishop walked, filling the bases. Haas popped to Shea, then Cochrane singled, scoring Miller. Stoner replaced Sorrell. Simmons fouled to Shea, ending the game.

Detroit May Be Scene of Title Bout This Summer

Detroit, June 4 (AP)—The lightweight championship of the world may be decided in a bout staged at Detroit some time this summer if negotiations between managers of Billy Petrolle, Ray Miller, and Sammy Mandell, leading heavyweights, and Detroit fight promoters are successful.

A meeting between the interested parties is scheduled here Thursday at which time efforts will be made to reach an agreement whereby the winner of the Miller-Petrolle bout here Thursday night will be matched with Mandell, the champion, for the title. Meeting with the managers of the respective fighters will be Dick Dunn, Olympia promoter, and Scotty Montieth, his match maker.

Petrolle and Miller today were putting the finishing touches on their training for the bout Thursday night at Olympia. Both fighters are confident of a victory.

CARDS, ROBINS DIVIDE DOUBLE

St. Louis Wins Opener, 3-1; Lose Nightcap, 11 to 8

St. Louis, June 4 (AP)—The Cardinals lost half a game of their lead to the victorious Pirates and Cubs by dividing a double-header against Brooklyn here today, but nevertheless remained in first place by a comfortable margin. The National League champions took the first game behind the fine pitching of Jess Haines by 3 to 1, but permitted Brooklyn to romp off with a decision by 11 to 8 in the nightcap.

Douthit's single and Bottomley's home run decided the first game against Watson Clark in the seventh inning. The second clash saw the rout of both Alexander and Moss, rival starting pitchers, and netted Chick Hafey his twelfth run as Harvey Hendrick twice hit over the right field barrier to drive home six runs.

Johnny Frederick, whose homer was the only Brooklyn run against Haines, hit safely in both games, running his string to 17 games in succession. Babe Herman got four hits out of four times at bat in the second game.

Hack Wilson led the Chicago attack with two home runs as Hornsby, Grimm and Grace got one apiece. Ed Roush and Bill Terry hit for the circuit in behalf of John McGraw.

JACK DEMPSEY RECEIVES OFFER

But "When, Where, and How Much" Is Still Unknown

Los Angeles, June 4 (AP)—Jack Dempsey's comeback plans went up for another balloon flight today and all that the sports writers here had to show for cooling their heels outside the conference room for a couple of hours was that the former heavyweight champion had received an offer to return to the ring.

The one-time king of the heavies and officials of the Agua Caliente company got their respective heads together today on a proposition that would have Dempsey don his togs in a comeback bout at the resort in Mexico. Terms were discussed and an offer made to Dempsey, it was announced, but such basic details as "when, where, and how much" were lacking.

The principals went into their huddle to the tune of rumors that Dempsey was to be offered sums ranging from $800,000 to a million. All Dempsey was supposed to do was to sign his name to a contract to fight an outstanding opponent at Agua Caliente, Mexico, about next November.

Dempsey met with his former business manager, Gene Normile, who is now connected with the resort, and the latter's associates, Wirt G. Bowman, president of the Agua Caliente company, and James N. Crofton, general manager. When they finished the conference Dempsey made the vague announcement that "nothing definite had been accomplished." Normile, not quite so secretive, said Mr. Crofton made an offer to Mr. Dempsey. There are lots of details to iron out yet.

Senators Score 6 Runs in Ninth To Beat Browns, 8-7

Washington, June 4 (AP)—After trailing for eight innings, Washington drove over six runs in the last frame to defeat St. Louis, 8 to 7, today and even the series.

Walter Beall, Yankee castoff making his first appearance on the mound for the Senators, relieved Liska in the fourth inning, and got credit for the victory.

YANKEES BEAT SOX 4 IN ROW

New York Sweeps Series by Winning Final Game, 4-2

New York, June 4 (AP)—The Yankees made it four straight over the White Sox here today, winning the final game of the series by 4 to 2. The White Sox again hit freely, and were mastered by Henry Johnson, who gave up only four safeties. The offensive total of Chicago for the four-game series was four runs and eighteen hits.

Red Faber also pitched a smart game, but gave up four hits and two runs in the opening inning. Gene Robertson made three more hits, giving him a record of six out of his last seven times at bat.

Lena Blackburne shook up his team, returning Are Shires to first base. Shires made two of the four Chicago hits. The Yankees again played with their revamped lineup, Ruth and Meusel remaining out of the game because of illness.

Rooms for Tourists? Call C. of C. Office

Escanaba residents, who have rooms and light housekeeping apartments which they would be willing to rent to tourists this summer, are asked to call the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce office.

Almost every day during the tourist season, the Chamber of Commerce receives inquiries as to where these accommodations can be obtained. During the rush season, the hotels are often overcrowded and it is necessary to refer tourists to the homes.
